

Red-reflex screening – can tech help?

Dr Louise Allen

This presentation will cover the issues that make red-reflex screening in infants difficult and how digital technology may be able to improve diagnostic accuracy and document the findings in the future.